MON	109	123	14	19	How would the main character survive in your world? The main character would survive easily in my world. The setting of my book is in a world quite similar to ours as it is a contemporary novel. She would probably popular since her mom was a famous author but have a bad reputation for cheating on one brother with the other.
TUES	123	135	12	15	How would you survive in the main character's world? I feel like i would barely survive in Molly's world. After having your mom expose you to the whole world and then leaving and coming back, i found feel quite embarrassed. Molly also goes through a lot of ridicule which i'm not sure i would be able to handle, especially if it was from my ex-bestfriend. I would be okay with her friends that she has.

WED	135	140	15	24	Identify 5 words you can adopt into your working vocabulary. Copy the sentences here, along with page numbers. Dissent: Woah, dissent in the ranks. Gregariousness: Gabe's personality, his gregariousness, got bigger and more exaggerated. Swerved: Once chuck died, it was like they swerved sharply in opposite directions. Clustered: Now we're clustered around a couple of the picnic tables eating chips and playing poker. Perpetually: i think of how he likes me anyway, how he's not perpetually disappointed by the person i turned out to be.
THU	140	158	18	25	How would you rate this book in terms of readability? How about literary merit? This book is easy in terms of readability, though sometimes it can get slightly repetitive. In terms of literary merit, this book is quite an easy read since it doesn't have an overly informative story line or many challenging words. This book may not be challenging, but it shows a good lesson on how to fix your mistakes.
FRI	158	178	20	30	Write an acrostic based on some aspect of what you've been reading. An acrostic is a poem where the first letter of every line spells out a word. Forgiveness from Patrick Old relationships being rebuilt Repairing relationships Gabe loves Molly Imogen is her friend again Vivid flashbacks Event on the mountain

TOTAL NUMBER OF PAGES and MINUTES READ THIS WEEK:			PP. 69	MIN. 113 (1.53h) On a scale of 1 to 10, rate your reading practice this week. Discuss what worked and what didn't work for you in a response of approx. 150 words. I believe my reading practices this week were pretty good, about an 8. I found throughout the week that planning out my reading schedule ahead of time helped me to manage when i knew i would not have time to read, such as days where i had extracurriculars. Another thing that worked quite well for me, was either reading right when i got home or right before bed, which was ideal since it helped me to wind down. This week i didn't experience any things that didn't work for me except for accidentally getting too into the book and reading for way too long. One thing i hope to improve upon going into this next week, is being more consistent with how long i read and reading for longer. Overall, i quite enjoyed this weeks reading logs since they got me back into reading a book that was previously slow and hard to read but is now suspenseful and quickly becoming a favourite of mine. Word Count: 165
